

The Power of Presentation

Class 100 121020

The "Power of Presentation" was created to help children and young adults prepare for the future. It is broken down into 8 crucial steps that each student should learn in this specific order. Each step takes what was taught in the previous lesson and builds upon and expands that experience.

By the end of this course, the students that have applied themselves will be prepared to be better participants in school, family life, and business.

The Master Happiness methodology is all about "Learning while Laughing." Students will have fun but will be expected to actively participate in order to get the absolute most out of these sessions. Lessons are a combination of lecture, impromptu presentations, games, and weekly assignments.

This course can be taught in 8 - 1 hour classes. Like all educational presentations by Master Happiness LLC, these classes are adjusted to fit the needs and progress of the class.

The Power of Presentation

Respect for yourself and others is an extremely important characteristic that must be learned, practiced, and perfected. Understanding how to identify your strengths and the strengths of others is the first step towards developing lasting friendships and building strong teams.

Listening to pay attention to what others are saying and what is happening around you prepares you for more intelligent engagement. Perfecting the Art of Listening helps you understand your audience, which is of critical importance when crafting your message.

The Art of Story Telling - The human mind needs stories to remember your message. Long before there was the written word, people sat around fires teaching lessons through story-telling. A Powerful Communicator must know the many parts of a good story in order to convey a memorable message.

Controlling your Emotions - Learning to tap into your emotions will make your presentation more impactful. But you must also know how to take control of those emotions without letting the emotions take control of you.

Establishing Credibility - Your ideas are quickly lost if your audience does not have trust in what you are saying. Learn when to appropriately quote others, state facts, and when to hold back on your beliefs.

Persuasion and Motivation - After many of these lessons you will find that you are armed with the ability to sway people's opinions and open their minds up to new ideas. During this lesson, students will learn how to lead and motivate individuals and teams to a greater purpose.

Negotiation and Debate - We will break down the attributes of a persuasive presentation step-by-step and prepare these students to argue intelligently and respectfully.

Your Message - It is now time for each student to look inward and find the message that they want to share. Each student will be asked to open their heart and find their true passion and with the Power of Presentation, they will be prepared to share that passion with the world.
