

Communicating YOUR Thoughts

Class 200 121020

In our 100-Level Class, "Power of Presentation," your child will have gained the courage to speak respectfully in front of others with confidence. It is now time that they learn to reach deep inside themselves to discover the ideas, thoughts, and concerns that are important to them. In this course, we turn your confident speakers into intuitive leaders and listeners. They will learn how to discuss creative options and make better decisions.

The Master Happiness methodology is all about "Learning while Laughing." Students will have fun but will be expected to actively participate in order to get the absolute most out of these sessions. Lessons are a combination of lecture, impromptu presentations, games, and some homework that includes writing.

This course is broken down into 8 - 1 hour classes. And like all educational presentations taught by Master Happiness, LLC, these classes are adjusted to fit the individual needs of the class.

Communicating YOUR Thoughts

How to Present - Each session will focus on a different aspect of improving public speaking expertise. This is "Next-Level" learning that can have a direct effect on the way that these children participate in school. We will cover Stage Presence, Eye Contact, Gestures, Facial Expressions, Voice Variation, Speaking with Emotion, Appearance, Virtual versus In-Person, and much more.

This is when the children learn how to truly express themselves with more than just their voices.

Looking Outward - There is a big world out there and by working as a team, these children get a chance to see where they fit in. Through discussion and presentation, these children pickup great listening skills and learn how they are seen by others and how to become the best versions of themselves. Stories and examples are shared about Perspective, Humility, Humor, Acceptance, Forgiveness, Gratitude, Compassion, and Generosity. And throughout these sessions some become the Expert, the Advisor, The Storyteller, the Detective, or the Salesman. But they all start to discover their purpose in Life.

The children learn that other people's opinions matter. They get a chance to encourage each other to share their stories, thoughts, and feelings in group discussions. This is when the real magic of teamwork happens.

Looking Inward - The students get a chance to self-examine. They look at who they are, how they got here, and who they would like to be. These children will be posed questions about change. These questions will help them become more active and involved members of their team, their family, and society. Independently and as part of a team, they will see how their actions affect others. They will have the opportunity to express their thoughts on an ideal World.

"What is the ONE thing that they would want to change about the world, if you could?"

"Why?" and "How can you start now?"

The same questions are asked about themselves, their friends, their school, their neighborhood, and community.

During these lessons, the children learn that they have the power to change the world and create their own future. This is done by voicing their opinions and motivating others to act.

Marty Jalove is an International Life & Business Coach and an Award-Winning Public Speaker. Marty would like to help you uncover your Passion, Mission, and Evolution so that you can truly Master Happiness.

Master Happiness, LLC • www.MasterHappiness.com

Smile@MasterHappiness.com • WeChat ID: MartyJalove • www.MasterHappiness.com/theseecret